

Idaho Map of Radon Zones

Based on average radon test results reported since 1990
(Revised 1-21-04)

Idaho Indoor Environment Program

This map should not be used as an indicator on whether or not to test your home for radon. Any home can have high radon levels even if the county average is low. The only way to know what the radon level is in your home is to conduct a radon test.